“Mastering Changes in 2012 and Beyond ~ An Astrological Guide for Each Sign”

~ Brian Tracy

Please note: The following dialogue is based on an interview between Jennifer and Elizabeth. It has, however, been edited and updated from the original recording and includes additional information.

Jennifer: Welcome to Changes in 2012 and Beyond—An Astrological Guide for Each Sign, a special presentation of McLean MasterWorks with Elizabeth Jones of Astrology of Light. In this very special program, Elizabeth is going to talk about the impact of the key astrological events occurring in 2012 and into 2013 on each of the signs, so this should be exciting! Let’s get going and let Elizabeth take over.

Elizabeth: Thanks Jennifer, I am grateful to be here. In this talk I am going to address how the key astrologically events taking place will be influencing the 12 astrological signs between now and mid-2013. I'll also discuss what you might expect and ways to best deal with the impact of these events. There's a lot of information here, so I suggest you have some paper and pen handy in case you want to make some notes.

Everyone is feeling the changes in the air now, especially the acceleration of energies since the beginning of 2012. Many of you are experiencing them in very personal ways as well as seeing them in a more global sense. It has become clear that this is a time of acceleration, of opportunities for increased soul growth, personal evolution and evolution for the planet and its inhabitants, too. As we each embrace the new energies, we are able to awaken to the higher aspects of ourselves. We see this now. We can feel it. And, we are hearing it from many sources. It is no longer an issue of if, but how and when.

I feel there are two things that are essential for consciously attuning to and aligning with these energies. One is to let go of the old, and the other is to welcome and embrace the new. If you are ever feeling lost or wondering what to do next or if you have an important decision to make or simply seek to awaken to your higher path, I have found the easiest and most direct way to get back on track if needed is to honestly notice what is going on around you, to let go of what is ready to leave your life and to welcome what is new and coming toward you.

Of course, this is not quite as easy as I’m making it sound, but I don’t think it hurts to have a clear and fundamental approach to view the changes that are occurring. The old is falling away. The new is coming in, and after lots of clearing and processing, there is an astrological aspect occurring now that is exactly about this energy, and that is Uranus squaring Pluto.
Uranus Squaring Pluto: Profound change brings awakening

NOTE: This aspect will actually be impacting us all through 2014.

This aspect (Uranus squaring Pluto) is exact in the 2nd and 3rd quarters of 2012, and will be influencing us strongly through the remainder of the year and also into 2013. It is one of the primary astrological events taking place that is ushering in the changes happening now.

The thrust of the influence for this event is radical, yet also meaningful change. It is about presenting us with what is ready to leave our lives—what we are ready to release, at least at a soul level, to be transformed into its next highest state of expression. This will then prepare us for the new experiences, energies, insights and perspectives that are also ready to enter into our lives as a result. So in essence, the Uranus-Pluto aspect represents a turning point or a crossroads. Are we open to this? If so, what can you count on for your support and guidance?

I realize, as I mentioned, that this may sound somewhat simple, and it is, at least in theory. Yet now, under the current astrological influences, it is here—right before us, and not off in the distance or just in our minds, but in our lives.

So next I am going to give you an overview of the Uranus squaring Pluto event and how its impact is being felt overall. Then I will discuss how it will be impacting each sign.

So Uranus is squaring Pluto. What does that even mean? That means that from the viewpoint of the Earth, if you put up your arm in the direction of Uranus and you put out your other arm in the direction of Pluto, you would be forming a 90-degree angle. They're literally squaring each other from the vantage of the Earth. That's what an astrological aspect is. It's when two planets are making a particular angle in relationship to the Earth. Each astrological aspect lasts a specific length of time.

The last time that these two planets made a major aspect to each other was in the 1960’s which contributed greatly to the cultural and political events, and turmoil, that took place during that decade. These two energies opened humanity to new perspectives that changed us forever. And as a result, it was clear that nothing would ever be the same.

The Uranus-Pluto square taking place now is the first of a wave of several exact hits, making a 90-degree angle to one another, in the next seven years. They are ushering in this energy that we are all noticing and feeling now. This is significant because the first time such an event takes place is critical, since it introduces the energy to us — personally and collectively. This brings us to a new place in humanity’s evolution — one that provides new opportunities for growth and new potential for spiritual awakening. Think of it as a cosmic wave, we are at the beginning of this wave reaching us, and, as it does, it brings big, even radical changes.

Jennifer: So we’ve got whatever is happening right now — whatever is showing up in our lives right now is something that would be showing up for the next two years, and that this is a pivotal time. I don't really want the ups and the downs — I feel like I’m on a rollercoaster. Is that what it’s going to be like for the next two years?

Elizabeth: I’m glad you said that, because you said something I want to clarify. Yes, it will come in waves and the changes and shifts and turmoil will ebb and flow. At times it will feel like being on a rollercoaster. But this doesn’t mean that the very same challenges or issues will just keep happening over and over again while Uranus squares Pluto. It is more likely that as we embrace the energies coming forth, our experience will elevate and our vibration will rise in exactly those areas we are experiencing the greatest turmoil and change. But in order for this to happen, it will require our attentiveness, our willingness to let go of the old and embracing our spiritual path. Another way to say this is that our frequency will raise as we go through the months ahead in direct relation to our greeting the energies coming towards us.

During this time, we all have an opportunity to align with, and in certain cases, to even accelerate, our soul’s agenda for this lifetime, and this can happen very quickly if you really embrace these energies. The nature of Pluto is to bring before you the areas that require deep and profound change, while Uranus brings us a wake-up call making it clear that it is indeed time to wake-up and become the beings our soul intended for this lifetime. Facing what needs to change (Pluto) is a very real precursor to awakening. And now, under this influence, we are given the opportunity to essentially take both of these steps in a very short period of time. I will differentiate further on those two things as we go on.

Please don’t hear, “Oh no, it’s challenge after challenge” for these influences will also bring new, thrilling and exciting opportunities paving the way for new ways to grow and evolve. This influence is certainly not all drudgery!

Many have faced and had to deal with some very real challenges in the last several years, but now it’s time for those to shift to the next level. You will likely be saying: “Aha, that’s why I was going through that. That’s why I was dealing with all those childhood/family/financial/health relationship issues all those years!”

I’m not saying the issues are going to disappear. I’m saying your experience of them is going to evolve as the energy around them shifts, and that this will transform how they express in your life.

Jennifer: So this is actually exciting. What this means is that we are getting the energetic support to move through whatever our challenges are, and in fact, if we do, it can result in a better understanding as to their origins, undercurrents and dynamics of our very existence. So this is not at all a bad thing that’s happening!

Jennifer: Sounds great…got it.

Elizabeth: Next I want to discuss the impact of Uranus and then we’ll move on to that of Pluto…
Uranus always invites you to do things differently than you’ve done them before, and as you do, then you will get a different result. It’s really that simple. And, very importantly, this is how we get unstuck, thus enabling us to move forward. By the way, this could be in any area of your life.

Uranus is the Great Awakener, and will, in essence, awaken you to seeing or experiencing some key area of your life in radically different ways than ever before. These changes are designed to wake you up. As you embrace its frequencies, it brings you new insights and innovative ideas, new directions to consider and exciting new adventures all the while offering solutions to problems that previously seemed unsolvable. One way it does all this is by opening the connection between your lower, conscious mind with your higher mind, which is that aspect of your being where innovation and unique expressions of the divine channel through the mental body. This is a chance to bring forth the light from your higher mind into your lower mental body.

Uranus is currently in Aries, and here it is all about awakening you to your uniqueness, to your individual expression of the Divine as it seeks to activate that spark that we each hold within.

♀ Pluto: The Great Transformer

Pluto is called the Great Transformer because it represents the most fundamental dynamics of change, which includes transforming the old into the new. When it is strongly aspecting us, as it is now, it initiates the most fundamental aspects of change into the deeper levels of our lives...levels that are generally harder to access than at other times. This is because these issues and patterns reside outside of our normal frame of reference or view and Pluto reveals those that are hidden. By the way, there can be treasures found now as well, ones that you didn't even know lay hidden within your being. These are revealed as the pattern related to the issue is broken.

It’s so interesting how even when Pluto brings with it challenges, how some part of us accepts this because we know it is time to deal with them. As we take this approach, much can clear and transmute, raising our frequency to a higher level. And then after months, years or even lifetimes, shifts happen in what seems like the blink of an eye.

Basically, during this time the patterns that had previously been most resistant to transformation are going to come up now. Many have been experiencing this for a while...what’s different now is that with the added influence of Uranus, the chance to transform these difficult-to-change patterns is very much more likely during this time.

So when Uranus meets Pluto, yes, sparks fly as it sets in motion a powerful series of waves, as I’ve said, and events that ultimately bring just the change that is needed for each of us to reach higher, result in opening us to a new life. You can also expect an increase in your enthusiasm, excitement and vitality. The key is to ride the waves and not resist.

To recap, the key concepts for the Uranus-Pluto square are:

- Challenges to old structures, beliefs and patterns.
- Breakdowns and collapses of outdated systems.
- Transformation so that we can align with the new energies coming in.
- Movement, growth and opportunities in your life that previously felt stuck.
Consider that the changes and transformation possible now are different than at other times, in that there will largely be vertical, and not horizontal, movement. And that, as we move higher, we will also be able to see farther.

Jupiter in Gemini: The Great Benefactor

Before I go into the influence of the Uranus-Pluto square on each sign, I'm going to add one more astrological element to the mix, and that is the role that Jupiter being in Gemini from June or 2012 until June of 2013 will play, and the help it will offer each of the 12 signs.

Long ago in my studies of astrology, I noticed that whenever we face a challenging or difficult celestial influence, the Universe also brings us an aspect that will help us to deal with it. And now, it is the presence of Jupiter in Gemini until June of 2013.

Jupiter is called the Great Benefactor and can offer aid as we each face the more challenging energies that could (and likely will) arise between now and mid-2013. Jupiter indicates where you may experience growth and expansion with greater ease and the area, or areas, where, when you actively seek out learning and greater understandings, will bring you the clarity and insights you need. This is also where you may well find support, relief, help and perhaps good fortune and gifts. It is important that in order to really utilize these things as you deal with the challenges you face, that you ask for Jupiter’s help, and then be grateful when it arrives!

Recap of the information being given for each sign

♂ Uranus: This is the area where something new and exciting is seeking to enter your life. For this to happen, you will be challenged to consider and view things from a radical new vantage based on the new information that presents itself. As a result, it’s possible you just won’t be able to ignore certain truths any longer. Your challenge now is to open your mind to completely new ways of seeing and experiencing whatever is before you. At times, you will have interesting new ideas and insights, get flashes of intuition and experience chance meetings and unusual synchronicities—all of these are sure signs that Uranus is showing up in your life.

♀ Pluto: This is the area of your life where you may experience the greatest challenge, and perhaps your greatest discomfort. Something in this arena may be ready to leave or transform and sometimes we resist this. Yet it is also where, as you allow deep transformations to occur, you will be able to discover strength and courage you may not have even known you had and that will allow you to take bold steps forward. Deep and profound shifts can occur as a result of Pluto visiting the area of your chart that I will give you for each sign.

♀ Jupiter: This is where, by learning and studying in the area indicated, you will get the insights and gain the understandings you need to deal with whatever you are facing. It’s all about a shift of attitude! Jupiter in Gemini reminds us that knowledge is everything. So it is most important, if you want to avail yourself of the gifts that Jupiter can bring during this time, to keep an open mind, consider new options and pursue opportunities that may appear now. The area of your life where Jupiter is influencing you will expand and grow in some way during this time (until June 2013). This is the area of you life where you will have the least resistance to the new energies as they arrive in your life, and thus, where you can enjoy yourself the most.
Also to consider:
1. You can gain additional information by reading about the sign of your ascendant, (aka your rising sign) and as well as your Moon sign.

   - Your Ascendant is determined by your exact time of birth and can be found on many places on the web. Here is one that is easy to use and reliable: http://tinyurl.com/9downfl
   - Your ascendant is found in this box on the page:

   ![Chart Image]

   The sign for your ascendant is found next to “AC” (just ignore the numbers before and after the sign, as well as the rest of the info in this box). In this case the ascendant is Sag, or Sagittarius. This will give you additional insights into where in your life these influences will be felt.

   - Also, once you create your chart, you will also find the sign the Moon was in when you were born, if you don’t know it already. Your Moon placement can be found in the box directly above where your ascendant is located. This will help you to understand your underlying emotional responses and reactions to these influences.

2. You can also read the Sun, Moon or Ascendant for others, as it will help you to better understand, support and perhaps offer some guidance to them as well through this time of transition.

3. Lastly, as I go through each sign, if you really relate to what I am saying, yet it isn’t the sign of your Sun, Moon or Ascendant, do pay attention to that, because that sign may be significant in some other way to your own chart, though it is too complex to really explain here. You can follow your own guidance and intuition as to which sign’s information holds meaning for you.

   Jennifer: Perfect! Let’s go for it. I’m not going to interrupt you much between now and when you get through this.

   Elizabeth: Ok! It’s time to go through each sign!

For Aries expect fundamental changes in the work and career arena, which may be in a state of flux during this time. An underlying theme here is to get clearer about your purpose in the world. Pluto always seeks to show us what is deep and profound and most meaningful to us, and sometimes the pathway there is uncomfortable. Yet as it is uncovered, you discover who, and what, you intended to express in the world during this lifetime.

Another dynamic present now could be around your relationship to your father, as well as other forms of authority, such as managers, bosses, mentors, teachers, etc. A current challenge is to look at just how healthy these kinds of relationships are. The key is whether you feel empowered or disempowered as you interact. How you handle your responsibility and honor your commitments is also a part of this.

For you, Uranus is seeking to reinvent you in some fundamental way. This will change how you see yourself and how you let others see you. In essence, your basic identity is undergoing a radical change. It is time to let go of old personas and time to embrace a new self image. As you begin to feel this new identity breaking through into your conscious awareness it will be as through you are looking in the mirror and suddenly seeing yourself in a new way. You may even go, “Whoa. I’ve never seen myself this way before!” Embrace this emerging aspect of your higher self seeking to come through, for that is what it is.

Further, your basic vitality and sense of aliveness is seeking to increase during this time. A key to this occurring is to take bold actions that move you outside of your comfort zone. This will help to invite in and align you with the energies required to take you to the next phase.

You will gain the greatest benefit from Jupiter by studying all sorts of new things. Your mind is eager to learn! This could happen through a variety of ways, such as returning to school, attending workshops, reading, etc. Jupiter is in the part of your chart that rules your mind, attitudes and thought process which result in how you view your world. It is important now to let yourself expand mentally and intellectually and to consider new, alternative ways of perceiving things in general as this will bring you to new places, introducing you to understandings that you have actually been wanting for some time.

Also, conversations and your communications are going to be quite meaningful at times, yet also lighter, livelier and more enjoyable. Keys to accessing the higher gifts that Jupiter can bring include listening to others more carefully and staying very open-minded. Lastly, your siblings may be a source of help but also an area of growth now, as those relationships may want to grow and evolve during this time.
Taurus {NOTE: For more information on the impact of each planet read the info above.}

Pluto ♉: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.

For Taurus expect fundamental changes in how you view things overall, which includes your general attitudes and perspectives on things. This can be challenging because you will need to be profoundly open and flexible, and since Taurus is a fixed sign, this may not be all that easy. Pluto here wants you to examine how any rigidity in your thinking keeps you from expanding, growing and evolving. So this isn’t as much what you think, as much as are you open to new ideas and thoughts. It is time to let go of outdated thought forms and patterns! Stand back and look with detachment at your attitudes and belief systems and see if any of them are holding you back.

Included here is how you see religion and the place it holds in your life. Are you open to aligning with a particular spiritual path? Or perhaps it is time to break away from one? Basically, you'll find you need to question many things during this time, and as you do, an overhaul in how you approach your life will occur. The end result is that you may become less rigid, judgmental and dogmatic, and more tolerant and accepting. The key to this happening is to seek a genuine understanding of the higher truth principles and Universal Logos (more information in Zodiac of Light—see astrologyoflight.com)

Uranus ♈: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.

The area of unexpected breakthroughs is truly in your spiritual life, as Uranus is going to open the portals to some mystical and wondrous places for you...this may include the higher realms and even past lives. One of the things that you may find is that abilities and gifts you developed in a past life could come forward now. This isn’t really about learning new things. This is about opening to and bringing forth what you already know, though it may be at deep or higher levels. You can connect with your guides and other teachers on the inner planes during this time.

Lastly, this is a time when your intuition is developing and your “psychic impressions” are becoming stronger. Messages will come from the inner and higher realms, offering comfort and guidance. Learn to notice and trust your flashes of insight...pay attention to synchronicities and chance encounters...basically messages can come through many mediums and in the blink of an eye. This is a very special and unique time for you spiritually, and it could radically change you.

Jupiter 4: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.

Jupiter can be a great help for you financially and your income may well increase during this time. It is so important to utilize all your resources which will be many. These enter your life in various ways, such as support, connections, ideas, your gifts and talents, etc. It is time to open your treasure chest wide and see how abundant you truly are as this will only bring you more of what you want and need. A key is to spend time learning about the Universal principles of abundance, which includes the law of attraction, but there are others. Understand them better, because right now they are going to make more sense to you, enabling you to more easily apply them to you life. As you do, you will be increasing your own sense of self-worth. This is a time when you come to truly believe that you are worthy of the abundance the Universe naturally provides, which is an important key to it manifesting in your life. In order for this to happen you must also understand and apply the joint influences that Uranus and Pluto have upon you during this time, so be sure to consider those.
Pluto 🌌: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.

For you the area of greatest breakdown and challenge is around your attitude about endings — this will impact you deeply and profoundly. Your life is changing at such fundamental levels that you must be willing to let go of whatever is ready to leave your life in order for this to happen. This includes how you view the lifecycle of birth, death and rebirth, which may be apparent in more ways than one now. Seeing that letting go is necessary in order to move on will open new gateways and bring you new life. It is indeed time to move along...to let go. There may be some grief, and some sadness, but more than any other sign, this is the challenge now.

Things are ending. Yes, they are, but things are also wanting to begin. Sometimes the walk between the two can feel odd, bewildering and uncomfortable. Keep before you as often as needed the new life that is seeking to find its way to your door.

Another thing that may occur in this journey is discovering your true legacy and the gifts buried in your own lineage. It’s a real key to finding your treasure chest right now.

Uranus ♂: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.

Uranus will bring unexpected breakthroughs and radical, new insights and realizations in how you see and feel about your relationship to community. If you have always been drawn to community, now you may seek to pull away from them. Conversely if you have shied away from community in recent years, now you may find you are very attracted to the idea. Either way, how you feel about them is going to change.

Another way this could go is that you want to connect with others who are doing something of service for the planet. This may be individuals or perhaps an organization that is devoted to serving humanity in some fashion. Opening your connection to the global family can radically shift your concept of how you fit into groups and what your role is with them and also what the mutual benefits are in doing so. This is a big shift for Gemini in the larger context of how you are seen and known, which can change very quickly now. It will bring about a departure from how you have always seen yourself. Also, this is a time to reconnect with the vision you have long held for your life, which your newly forged connections to community may be a part of.

Jupiter ♈: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.

Jupiter is going to help you significantly now because it’s in your sign (Gemini). It will stay here until June, 2013, and it brings you a special Guardian Angel, offering protection and guiding you to just the right place for you to be now. Hence, it is most important that you “follow the Cosmic breadcrumbs”, so to speak. Meaning rather than trying to make something or another happen, pay extra careful attention to where you are being led for you will see that there are opportunities and openings in places where you hadn’t even considered looking. It can improve your self-image during this time, increasing your desire to be seen and heard, and to be involved with others (read Uranus). You have just ended a significant 12-year cycle, and now it is time to show your true colors again. By the way, taking care of yourself physically and emotionally is a very big part of this.
Cancer {NOTE: For more information on the impact of each planet read the info above.}

Pluto ♒: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.
The sign of Cancer is one of four that is getting powerfully influenced by Pluto being in Capricorn. For you, it will bring radical and lasting change to the areas of personal relationships, marriage, very close friendships and all forms of partnership, including business. As well as profound change, you may also find these to be mirrors for you, which may not always be easy to take because of the depth of character they will be revealing. This may bring right before you what is needed to change and transform.

Think of it as a time of cleaning the mirror, as those closest to you become reflections for you. There are powerful forces at play now that are asking, at some level, for you to see truth and authenticity in yourself in ways you may never have seen before. While the process may be uncomfortable, the end result will be unbelievably empowering. Speaking of which, issues related to power, or abuse thereof, may arise during this time. The key to avoiding this becoming a very uncomfortable challenge is to welcome mutual and unconditional empowerment and respect.

You may also form very powerful bonds and alliances with others during this time. And, some alliances may fall to the wayside...letting go of relationships of any sort is not something most Cancers like to do but it may well be a part of creating the space in your life for new, and mutually beneficial, relationships. It is of utmost importance that if you are forming a new partnership of any type that you make certain it is above board and completely equitable.

Uranus ☢: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.
Uranus brings unexpected change and breakthroughs in your work environment, which could prove to become a most interesting time for you professionally. If you have been seeking to achieve something new and exciting in this area for a while, this year is the time you might see that come to fruition. There is a key reason for this: you are ready to be seen differently out in the world.

Also, how you relate to authority is very much emphasized during this time. You could have clear realizations along the lines of: “Oh, my God. I’ve been giving away my power to my boss (or my father/manager/an old belief system, etc.) and I’m now done with that!”

Jupiter ☴: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.
Jupiter is going to be offering you some most interesting help and having a sense for what it is will assist you in experiencing it in your life. I mention this because it will be subtle, so you may have to go looking for it. Look within, to your inner spiritual landscape for light and inspiration as this is where you will find great fortune, though perhaps not in a worldly way. You may sense that you are being protected and guided, and indeed you are. New and meaningful connections with inner teachers can be made during this time. Doing this will prepare you for next year (after June) which may initiate a time of great progress and even personal wealth. A key to availing yourself of this wonderful benevolence is to willingly surrender to the process, have deep faith and to practice radical forgiveness. Think of these as viable tools now and you will see positive results almost immediately. You can be the peace-maker in any situation now.
Pluto ♀: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.
For Leo, the Pluto arena for you is health, daily habits and regimes. Being attentive to how the choices you make, especially in health-related ways (but also others) is the primary focus now. Becoming attentive to those choices on a micro-level is a critical key to manifesting the life you want, as well as ultimately fulfilling your soul’s destiny. And, most of the time you may not really pay enough attention to such things. As you do, you will see the magic and the power of the moment. And, of “being here now”.

Another area of you life that Pluto is bringing to your attention now is whether or not you “walk your talk”. Do you go through your day consciously seeking to express the higher truths that you already know? Or do you act from old and unconscious patterns. Yes, it is difficult to really change your thoughts and actions, yet doing so is essential to growth. This quote says it all: “In order to grow you must change something you do everyday.” And this is the aim of Pluto now…to show you clearly how your choices, habits, routines and patterns make up your Life. The new levels of awareness you will gain during this time will also show you how to align with your higher truth at new levels. A key for you is to stay aligned with the higher energies now is to practice mindfulness, and humility.

Uranus ☉: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.
Uranus can bring you waves of unexpected breakthroughs as you embark on new bodies of study (such as A Course in Miracles or one of the courses in the Healing with the Masters programs). Now is the time to expand your understanding of Universal Truths, and then apply them directly to your life. Uranus can open your mind to receive radical new concepts and information, more now than at any other time in your life. You may even be given amazing ideas and solutions to problems. You are actually eager and ready to take in new information that could send you in new directions! Just know that you can’t hold onto the old while embracing the new, unless it supports the next phase you are being shown for your life. A key to availing yourself of this dynamic energy is to consider things you may have never considered before.

Jupiter ☁: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.
Some of your greatest gifts will come through your friends and peers during this time. They are absolutely going to be an ongoing source of help, support and inspiration for you. Seek them out when you feel the need for motivation and some encouragement. During this year (until 6/13) seek out groups that have similar beliefs and agendas as this will give you the feeling of connection that you crave now. Join a church or meditation circle. This will be a place of such support and inspiration…you won’t believe it until you do it!

Involvement in your community is also a place where you can make mutually fortunate connections. Volunteering and giving of your time in some way will be deeply rewarding. Lastly, Jupiter here will help you to see the possibilities available to you at this stage of your life as it opens you again to dreams you may have lost along the way. Dare to believe in them again now that you have the Great Benefactor Jupiter here to assist you in making them a reality. Do, however, stay open to them manifesting somewhat differently than you thought they would.
Virgo

Pluto ♄: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.
For Virgos it is not really a natural thing to see yourself in a leadership role, yet that is what is being called for now, at least in some fashion. This is a time to dig deep for your inner strength and let it help others find theirs. Taking some personal risks may be the way to break down the barriers you have to taking charge and being the leader you really are capable of becoming now.

Life itself will very possibly present you with situations that can really transform you. You will see what your true gifts are, though they have lain hidden until now. As you embrace your new role(s) (this may also include areas such as managerial positions, teaching, mentoring, etc.) it will change forever how you are seen by others as well as how you are seen by yourself. Being of service comes easier to you than most, and now, this is how you are being called to do this.

By the way, a Leo may play an important role in helping you to step onto center stage. Watch them…listen to what they say…then try it out yourself. Being willing to step up to the plate is what is up for Virgos now. Go for it! You may well be surprised at how wonderful it feels.

Uranus ♎: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.
Uranus is going to let you know that profound changes in how you feel about yourself is a necessary component to growth, and yes, this might be a bit uncomfortable. What do you feel like? What is going on inside of you? What is emerging from deep within? What are the deeper emotions that are coming up now? Uranus has a way of doing things in quite an unorthodox fashion, and so any of these may occur in a most unexpected manner.

Accept that deep feelings are emerging, especially as you face the endings you surely must, for as you let go of what must be left behind, it will empower you in ways you may never have felt before, as mysterious as it sounds. This year has all the ingredients of being a time of truly profound awakening for Virgos, but the ride will not be easy or comfortable. Perhaps it will help to think of it as being on a treasure hunt…some part of you not only knows this, but is excited about it. Trust and listen to that part of yourself, for it has knowledge and wisdom of which you are currently only partially aware. If there was a time to follow the cosmic bread crumbs, this would be it! It will help when you get the jitters…this is unfamiliar ground, after all. But it’s also the excitement a part of you has been craving for a long time.

Jupiter ♃: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.
Though both Pluto and Uranus are in pretty challenging places for you, Jupiter is in an incredibly fortunate part of your chart for work and career. So this is going to be a time when Lady Luck is on your side in this area of your life as opportunities come your way. It’s been a while since something this fortunate has occurred for you, so you may not be expecting the gifts. So be on the lookout for them! Try something you’ve never tried before…perhaps a teaching or managerial position, even if in the past you thought, “I’ve never really wanted to do that.” This might be the time to consider just such a thing. Overall it’s time to step up your game and display your abilities for what they are, which is far more valuable than you think. People are looking up to you, and you may just find that you love a bit of the spotlight more than you thought you would.
Libra

{NOTE: For more information on the impact of each planet read the info above.}

Pluto ♉: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.

Libra’s can expect that their family and home front is where significant changes are going to be happening during this time. Most likely, it’s been a long time coming, and may even have been going on for a while. Old patterns within the family group are breaking down, and this could be exactly what is needed for newer, fresher and more vibrant relationships to exist in your home environment. This may involve any of the relationships there, such as children, spouses or even long-term roommates. Something deep is emerging and now is the time for that to come to the surface, whatever it is. Secrets just don’t work anymore…

A dominant theme will be around power. Who has the upper hand? Who is running the show? Is everyone feeling seen and heard? Is there mutual respect amongst the group? These are questions that may arise now. These are deep currents and issues getting stirred up, ones that may even be a part of a generational pattern. Yet, as they are revealed, a deep and profound bond can also be forged.

Another possibility is that actual changes in the home front occur, such as moving or remodeling. If this is you, these will really change the dynamics in the home. It could also be something like a child going to college (or coming back from college?) or a parent moving in that may be upsetting the status quo. Overall, the energy in your home/environment is somehow unsettled. As it does, it will change the power dynamics as well.

Uranus ♍: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.

The Uranus area for you is personal relationships, partnerships and those closest to you. This means that unexpected change is likely to occur in this area. Including Pluto, we’re talking about the two most personal areas in your life that are up for radical and profound change. Out of 12 areas of the chart, there are two that rule the most personal relationships, and now, both are being affected, one by Uranus and one by Pluto.

What’s exciting about this is that a significant period of revitalization and renewal is at hand in these most important areas of your life. A key is to accept that avoiding the truth and superficiality just don’t work anymore. You are ready at some level to deepen and give new meaning to your primary relationships. In order to do this, you must be willing to break through previous barriers between you and others. A good place to start is to practice radical listening.

Jupiter ☂: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.

Jupiter will help all this by bringing you the perfect new insights and information you need to deal with all of the above. Developing some new areas of interest is just the healthy diversion you need keeping you from dwelling on things that just take time to process. You may get the urge to go back to college as you now desire higher knowledge and fuller understandings. Or you may want to travel as you’re convinced the grass is greener elsewhere, prompting your desire to explore and experience some new places—this would be a good thing to do now! You definitely, more than any other, are getting the strongest and most positive advantages from Jupiter during this time. New options and a new attitude about things overall can help all other areas of your life!
Jennifer: So my Moon is Libra. Can I take all these qualities, too, and apply them to my life?

Elizabeth: Do they fit you?

Jennifer: They totally fit me.

Elizabeth: Yes...as I mentioned at the beginning, do read your Moon sign as this will give you insights into your more emotional experience of the year.

Jennifer: And Scorpio is my ascendant, so I can use that as well?

Elizabeth: That’s right. And with the sign of your ascendant, it will give you additional information as to the area of your life affected during this time. Remember, you can get the information for your chart, if you don’t already have it, at the link above.

Also, I want to encourage you to either reread their notes or this PDF in a few months because the information given here will likely have new or greater meaning to you as we get further into the influence of these energies which are impacting us all until (at least) June, 2013.
Scorpio

NOTE: For more information on the impact of each planet read the info above.

Pluto ♉: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.
Scorpio will find that communications in its various forms are up for deep and profound change. This is time to consider: Are my communications clear? Do I listen well? Am I genuinely interested in what others have to share? Do I take the time in my communications to make certain that a true interaction occurred, one where both people are heard? This is a time when your communications can backfire if you are not taking steps to improve them in these ways. Keep in mind that it will require your conscious participation to do so as these are life-long patterns.

Another theme will be learning how to manage, if you will, your mind, looking at your mental patterns and thoughts. How do you self-talk? Are you a negative-thinker? Are you fearful and do you tend to worry? Do you find that you are mentally disciplined and able to focus when needed? James Allen was an author who wrote many amazing books on the spiritual aspects of the mind, and how to gain greater mental health. The most famous book he wrote was As a Man Thinketh, but there were many others. His works helped me to understand how our mind relates to the higher mind, and ultimately to the Divine Mind. These are some things you will find yourself thinking about now… how your mind can become the co-creative force that it was designed to be.

Uranus ☽: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.
Uranus will seek to break up those daily patterns that are keeping you from advancing on your path and evolving. It could be as rudimentary as what time you get up and what time you go to bed… or your daily schedule or when you eat. But expect there to be something along these lines that needs changing. Something is needing to shift and it will require new insights and understandings before you can create new, healthy patterns. It may be a time when chaos ensues before clarity appears.

I read a quote once that really fits how the combo Pluto-Uranus are impacting you: “if you want to see who you are, see what you think all day.” Through this process, you can literally transform your life. Lastly, being of service in some way will help to give you the new perspective that can propel you into a new mind set. So this is something to consider now.

Jupiter ♃: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.
There are deep treasures and resources available to you from your lineage, though they are not always easy to access and Jupiter can bring you right to them these during this time. It will require you that you be willing to know where you truly came from. I call this the spiritual line of your ancestral lineage. This could transform what you think you have of value to share with the world.

Something is coming through you now that has never presented itself before. Be willing to look below the surface and in places you never searched before, as that is where your treasure will be found. It could be that years of delving into and clearing out old patterns and doing all of that healing work is now going to pay off in some way that’s so tangible that you may simply want to say “Thank you.” In fact, the best way to invoke the help of Jupiter is to be grateful for what you have now. Also, what is authentic and genuine holds great meaning for you now, and conversely what is not will have little or no value for you. Be honest with yourself as to which is which.
Sagittarius {NOTE: For more information on the impact of each planet read the info above.}

Pluto ♒: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.

This is a time when Sagittarians will transform their relationship to money and their finances. It all stems from how you value yourself and what you have to offer. The energy present now and for some time will be about this and some important questions to ask are: Do you value this incarnation? Do you feel alive? Do you value yourself? Do you feel valued? Are you sharing the knowledge and gifts you came into this life to share? Do you take care of yourself and those you are responsible for? Yes…these are fundamental, yet profound, things to consider.

The deeper, underlying current is about you really getting that you matter…that your gifts and what you have to offer matter. And as you release anything that keeps you from feeling and knowing this, abundance will come your way. So this is a very powerful energy and the time to really look at these deeper issues.

Uranus ☉: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.

Uranus is saying that, in order to embrace this, you’re going to have to take some risks and do things you never have before. Its message is clear: in order to gain this sense of personal value, you are going to have to put yourself out there, expressing who you truly are. And it may not be comfortable at first. Basically, you are going to have to get out of your comfort zone in order to break the old patterns.

In other words, let’s say that you’re a great musician, but you never take the risk to play in front of others…now is the time to do this. Creative and personal self-expression is the path towards a greater sense of self-worth. It really is that simple. This is a very powerful time for Sagittarians, because you’re finally getting in touch with who you are and what you came here to do. All said, this could be a fun and exciting time for you because where Uranus is in your chart now actually resonates with your basic creative and dynamic energy.

Jupiter ♃: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.

Jupiter’s gifts to you during this time will likely come through your close friends and relationships. You will find they will be honest with you in ways that are most beneficial. So it is advised to consider carefully what they are saying. They will also support and encourage you through any difficulties and challenges you may face—truly a gift!

If you are a Sagittarius who has been seeking a personal relationship, you are now in a cycle where one could enter your life. It could also include a great professional partnership or arrangement that benefits you both. Sharing, communication, listening and interacting with others will all benefit nicely from this placement. Hence seek out those closest to you, and don’t be afraid to ask for help as needed.

Lastly, restoring balance to some area of your life is possible now, especially if this is something you feel you have been missing of late. It would be helpful to take steps to achieve this through things like feng shui and getting better organized.
Pluto ♄: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.
Pluto is in your sign, and so more than any other, you will experience periods of radical change and transformation on several fronts. It is time for you to strip away whatever you have been using for armor and allow yourself to not only be seen in a new light, but also to become more vulnerable. For you, Pluto is seeking to transform any area of your life that holds you back, and has been holding you back for a few years now. But at this time, with the strong aspect from Uranus, the envelope is being pushed and things are heating up. You may have noticed that change, change, change, transformation and more than a few challenges have been the name of the game this year.

What’s so important now is to breakdown how you see yourself in some way and then to embrace a new identity and welcome in the new you. Very fundamental, I know. Very potent, too. This may sound somewhat simple, but it actually isn’t, no two ways about it, so be gentle with yourself through this process. How you actually hold and see yourself influences everything, including how you present yourself to the world, and that’s a good deal of what this is really about—how you show up in your life. Things may feel disorienting at times—you are changing your persona at fundamental levels! But it can also be a deeply moving and ultimately a life-changing time as you remove the layers of who you no longer are and move towards your truer essence.

Uranus ☢️: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.
Uranus is aspecting another fundamental area of your life: home and your immediate environment. You’re likely already experiencing changes in your home life. It is important to let go and stop holding on to the way things have been, for if you do resist, you will only create greater turmoil. Seek to greet the changes that are coming into your life as though you are welcoming a new friend who will bring you many exiting experiences, as this is what Uranus can provide—an exciting time filled with dynamic and interesting experiences. The ultimate gift will be an infusion of greater vitality and a sense of aliveness in your relationships and in your home.

These are very fundamental areas of life being impacted, which is something you have in common with the sign of Cancer. It may even be helpful to read that sign. It is also likely that a Cancer will play a role in the events that are occurring now. This is a time when you’re wanting your home to become a truer reflection of the person you have become, and who you are becoming.

Jupiter 4: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.
Jupiter is going to make it easier for you to change daily your regimes and patterns and this is not something that is usually true for you. One suggestion for changing who you are is to begin by changing what you do. This is the gift Jupiter can bring you now. Consider this: If you change that one simple thing, your whole life will take on a new direction. Now more than ever, it is true. Start with the simplest change you can think of…or with the one that you know you must do…either way, Jupiter will help you do this. Go off sugar, take a walk every day or start to meditate daily…and of course there are others. Just begin by making one change…it can be that simple, and literally you will be sent into new, positive directions that you had thought were just not possible.
Aquarius

Pluto ♉: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.

For Aquarius, you have likely been feeling the shifts and changes as something stirring from deep within you which are so subtle you find it difficult to describe what is happening. If so, you are indeed sensing the impact of Pluto upon you, in the deepest aspects of your psyche. This area is where the patterns of this life merge and connect with those from past lives, for it is here that the portal between the two resides. Pluto’s presence here heralds a time of profound transformation that takes place mostly on the inner realms of your being which you never knew of before.

This is the same place in your chart that rules dreams, imagination and mysticism and so during this time, your relationship to those aspects of your being are being transformed as well. This is all leading towards opening you to a greater realization of your own spiritual nature. Pathways are being cleared, doorways opened and karmic patterns dissolved. Yet, none of this is easy at a conscious level for most of you will experience feelings of profound change that you have no control over, and indeed you do not. What you will notice are the results and at times you may feel lost, at other times filled with hope and inspired. All this comes in waves…nothing too dramatic here for these are subtle currents, and happening just below the surface. The best ways to align with these mystical energies is to surrender your personal will and agendas and trust the process.

This provides opportunities for you to see what motivates you from deep within your psyche, with the origins even being from past lives…and you may experience some very profound “past-life bleed-overs”, where something gets triggered that originated before this incarnation. Your relationship to spirit will evolve into a far more direct and profound one, though initially that will be in a state of flux, yet this will develop during this time. Know that you are being guided all the while, so there is nothing to worry about. It is most likely that you have waited a long time for this energy to arrive in your life as it is truly a blessing to be purified in this way.

Uranus ☉: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.

Uranus is your ruling planet, so its placement is extra important to you, and, now it is in a most favorable position to help with the profound changes that are taking place within you. It will increase your thirst for knowledge, keep you open to new insights and bring in new understandings. You will discover much about your spiritual path and about life in general. Fresh eyes, seeing things in radically different ways, new perspectives and ah-hah moments are possible now. This is going to help clear that Pluto stuff so much faster! The new awareness and light that Uranus will make available to you will help to move energetic blocks and old patterns quickly for you. So a real challenge, and the key here, is for you to take in new information and truly consider its meaning. And then to apply to your life what you have discovered.

Jupiter ♄: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.

In the midst of all this, Jupiter wants you to discover what really brings you joy and happiness. This means that you should stop sometimes to just play and enjoy yourself. Also, take some chances and risk expressing your creative, unique self. Children can play a truly important role for you now as their innocence and capacity for joy is part of what your soul is seeking. And they are such great teachers of these things! Jupiter is here to remind you to just not take it all so seriously!
Pisces
{NOTE: For more information on the impact of each planet read the info above.}

Pluto ♉️: Area of your life where fundamental changes will occur.

Pluto is bringing a deeper awareness to your circle of friends, and who you associate with and relate to. Who are your real friends? Who has your back? What is your relationship to groups? It could be that a circle of friends or peers is leaving your life, and almost immediately, a new group arrives on the scene that you resonate with to a far greater degree because they are more aligned with the vision for your life. I recently read a quote that applies directly to you during this time: “If you want to learn about a person, see who his/her friends are.”

There is also a strong focus now on reconstructing the vision you have for your life, which is directly related to your soul purpose. Do you know what this is? If so, are you realizing it now or have you strayed from it. If the former is true, and you are manifesting the vision for you life, then this is a time when that will gain further momentum. If the latter, and you have basically backburnered your dreams, then it will become clear how that has very likely “deadened” your overall vitality. It is time to express who you incarnated to be. It’s really that simple, and that complex. Pluto is the Great Transformer, and is here to transform your relationship to your Life Vision. Be open to seeing it differently, because it most likely will be.

Uranus ☉️: Area where radical new insights and unexpected breakthroughs will occur.

Uranus will present you with opportunities to radically transform your capacity for self worth. This will shift how you see yourself at such a profound level that how you feel about yourself will change because your self-esteem will increase. It is up for radical transformation for you now! You may get many insights during this time, some out of the clear blue, providing you essential information as to what has held you back until now. You could even sense that now is the time to just throw everything out the window as to what you thought was important and get ready to embrace a new set of values.

One reason this may happen for you is that you have outgrown things that once meant something to you. You are changing, growing and evolving…and now all this is impacting what is most important to you. During this year, you will notice this more and more and as you do, you will let go of whatever doesn’t fit in to the new value system. And your overall enthusiasm and vitality will increase by leaps and bounds. In order for all this to happen, you must allow the status quo to change. If you don’t, chaos and/or feeling profoundly stuck will ensue.

Jupiter ♐️: Where you will find help, support and good fortune as you gain new knowledge.

Jupiter will be offering you help, support and even good fortune, in the best place it can—right in your home and immediate environment. It may be that after a lot of searching you realized that you “had it all along”. “It” being what you need to feel content. Sometimes it is true that increased joy doesn’t come from changing your environment, but rather from being full of appreciation for just what you have. Once you do this, the vibration of your “space” will be raised and what you needed, and wanted, can be found nearby. You don't need to look far for support, either. It could be from those right in your on neighborhood, home or in your immediate family who are there for you. Your home is your castle now, and so do those things that will help you to feel more comfortable in that environment (feng shui would be perfect). Lastly, it may also be a time when you could gain financially through real estate.
Elizabeth: Those are the signs. Remember to read the signs of those closest to you as it will help you to understand whatever it is they may be facing. I hope this has been helpful!

Jennifer: Yes--It was really cool, and it was so interesting that all three of my signs were completely on the money!

Elizabeth: This is a most powerful time and having insights into how these energies are impacting you can give you clarity and an understanding of how to best work with them, not against them!

Jennifer: Yeah. I don’t know anyone — I haven’t talked to anyone who isn’t going through changes. Everyone is feeling it.

Elizabeth: Agreed!

Jennifer: Thank you, Elizabeth, so much. This was a really, really cool show. I really enjoyed it so much!

Elizabeth: You are most welcome—I enjoyed it as well! And many blessings to all of you during this time of radical change and increased Light!
